

Engineered Predictive Maintenance by Bayer

Engineered Predictive Maintenance (EPM) is the single most important thing you can do to optimize the performance and reliability of your Bayer in Radiology equipment.

Rely on an EPM to maximize your....

- › Uptime and product performance
- › Schedule efficiency and patient satisfaction
- › Image quality and reliability

Only an EPM provides comprehensive annual service, performed by a Bayer-certified engineer:

- › Calibration per OEM specifications and procedures supported by the use of specialized test equipment.
- › Proprietary hardware and software updates designed to keep the system performing at peak efficiency.
- › EPM proactive certified part replacement to enhance system reliability.
- › Complete inspection and functional check to validate the proper functioning of head mounting systems including OCS, table brackets and pedestals.
- › 90-day warranty protection including travel, labor and parts for 100% satisfaction.
